Five reasons not to miss AVA, Belfast's first festival of the summer, across the 4-day bank holiday

- BICEP - Over recent years the Belfast duo have become a globally recognized festival headliner and this will be their biggest homecoming show to date and possibly the biggest must-see show of the summer.
- The venue - this is AVA's maiden voyage from the iconic Titanic Slipways a venue steeped in history and within walking distance from Belfast City Centre. The team behind AVA have further invested in the production and main stage, to bring something truly unique to Belfast.
- Local Spirits, Cocktails and Food - the festival is not just for music lovers... the Festival has curated a host of local culinary crafted food and drinks from Titanic Distillers Premium Irish Whiskey and Premium Irish Vodka, Belfast born Cocktail Keg, from the Belfast Woodfire Pizza, to Al Pastor Belfast, and much more.
- New music - this year's AVA has something for everyone with live artists such as Mura Masa who's collaborated with everyone from A$AP Rocky to Charli XCX, Biig Piig, Gemma Dunleavy, Mango X MathMan, and Irish & NI bands such as NewDad, Enola Gay. Full stage times and line-up can be found here (Link)
- Jubilee weekend - it all takes place across Jubilee weekend with the Festival at Titanic Slipways taking place from 1pm on Friday 3rd and Saturday 4th June, alongside opening, closing and after parties across the city. See avafestival.com for more info.
